I appreciate the information. Things are moving forward and we will begin vac box transfers next week. Unfortunately, it takes a little while to get these types of projects moving at a pace acceptable to those on the outside.

Thanks

Hi Gary,

Thanks again for taking me and Tracy Hester's law students around CES two weeks ago. I wanted to pass along a message to you, but please don't shoot the messenger. I was on a weekly call that includes folks from the Texas Organizing Project, who you know organized much of the public outcry around the site. There is still very much a perception that nothing is happening at the site and citizens are still worried that they are going to face more leaks and more contamination. They are going to continue to advocate for a stronger clean up action.

I told the TOP representative that you and your crew was there daily and that you were doing everything you could with your resources. I know we all want this thing done and of course more funding would help. I understand this to be the case and you don't have to convince me any further. Maybe managing public opinion isn't your job or your concern, maybe it is. I just thought I should pass this along to you: there is still a great deal of anxiety in the community. Do with that information what you will. If we can help, let me know.

Thanks,
